

ACTIVITIES

Non-responsive

Non-responsive

- During the week of April 2, validated results of EPA’s sampling of home wells in Dimock, Pennsylvania, will be shared with the second group of affected homeowners. Media coverage was heavy after the data release of the first eleven homes sampled was released, and is expected to continue as data for the next twenty homes is shared with the homeowners. EPA expects reporters’ inquiries will continue to come into both the regional office and Headquarters regarding EPA’s sampling results.

Non-responsive

Non-responsive